ROGERS MARVELS ABOUT THE "BEST MINDS" IN SENATE

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22. — When the senate can't think of anything else to argue over, they argue over, "Which bill will we pass first?"

Some think they should pass the cruiser appropriation bill first, and some think they should pass the treaty where the nations say "it's wrong to fight each other."

Yours,
WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Last Saturday night before Christmas. There'll be a record army of shoppers out tonight!

It is surprising the large number of persons whose birthday anniversary comes on Christmas day, when once an investigation is made. A large number have been reported to Pa Newc during the past few days. Here are two more: Louis Gaolotti of 836 Morton street and C. H. Elliott of 826 East Lutton street.

There is a unique Christmas decoration to be seen on Laurel boulevard, near Delaware avenue. In addition to lighted Christmas trees in the yard the outline of the house is shown in colored lights, quite a pretty spectacle.

The big tree has been erected on the cathedral lawn and work of decorating is in progress. It will probably be lighted tonight.

A magnificent tree has been placed in position near the intersection of Boyles and Highland, and is being decorated.

Auto cruising about the city will be popular for the next few nights, as spectators take a look at the wonderful Christmas decorations in all parts of the city.

Stealing Christmas wreaths from an auto, as reported to the police yesterday, seems to Pa Newc as about the most out of place idea of the season as could be imagined.

The erection of traffic signs directing autoists how to journey through New Castle to other points have been all erected by H. W. Lightner and employes. Mr. Lightner gave his services free and the city of New Castle councilmen yesterday paid him a vote of thanks for his splendid work.

Just what the attraction is that keeps men standing on the street car platform with the car operators, Pa Newc doesn't know but from the looks of most of the cars on the way down the hills these mornings, that attraction must be immense. After the seats are filled the men who get on never seem to think of the room to the rear of the car. No, they stand staunchly on the front platform and dare all and sundry to squeeze past them.

What with the Community Chest Round Table group working together this year as the organizations it represents have never worked before the

Police Officers At Fire Friday

Officers Longstreth and Augostine answered the call to 936 Harrison street Friday afternoon about 2 o'clock when it was stated that there was a young lady in the house where there was a fire in progress, in a serious condition and might have to be moved to some place of safety.

The officers on their arrival found that there was no danger of the fire spreading to the room occupied by the sick person and had them remain there with the door closed until the fire had been put out.

Twenty Dozen Kansas Rabbits Are Imported

Mystery Man Writes Christmas Poem While Waiting In Court Library

Poetry in a court house is not usual. Somehow criminal trials and poetic expression seem foreign to each other, but occasionally the two meet.

Members of the bar, various officials and newspaper men who frequent the Law Library in the Lawrence county court house are wondering who the mysterious poet is who composed the verses found below.

Nobody knows who he is or where he came from. Sitting in the library Friday afternoon the old gentleman, for he was not young, could be seen writing something. After a short time he laid the pen down, walked out and that is the extent of any knowledge concerning him.

It may have been some old timer who had fallen upon evil days. It may have been a father whose son was in trouble with the law. It may have been some one who is to be sentenced.

Whoever it was, and whatever the reason for the poetry, here it is:

"There's a song in my heart that has never been sung,
Sweet as roses, wet with the dew.
A song of the days when I was young and friends were plenty and true
Tis a sweet sad song, a song without words,
And 'tis of my life a part,
A song as sweet as the carol of birds
and sad as a broken heart.

Oh, that song that lies in the depth of my heart,
It is old and yet ever new,
Oh, that sweet sad song of my life a part, I wish I might sing it for you
But the sweetest songs are not sung my dear,
For oh they're too deep for words.
Alas, they're sad as the orphan's tear and sweet as the carol of birds."

Riverside Church Is Complete Loss

Flames Destroy Magnificent New York Church Nearing Completion

HUNDRED THOUSAND SPECTATORS WATCH

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Legislation compelling contractors to use steel instead of wood scaffolding on large buildings under construction was urged by fire department officials today as an aftermath of the million dollar fire here last night which ruined the nearly completed Riverside church on Riverside Drive.

Fire Chief Kenlon declared that the use of wood scaffolding endangered adjoining buildings and the people of the whole city. Wood scaffolding also was used in the construction of the Sherry-Netherland apartment hotel, the scene of another spectacular fire here.

Damage to the interior of the church and adjoining buildings was estimated today at more than a mildollars. The flames shot up the scaffolding on the 400-foot tower which was to cap the stately edifice, and blazing planks dropped on the costly fittings in the church below.

Rockefeller Chief Contributor

John D. Rockefeller Jr. had contributed a large part of the $4,000,000 raised to construct the architectural gem as a tribute to the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, who was to leave the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church to become pastor of the new church.

It was planned to make the edifice one of the most magnificent church structures in the world. Features of the most famous cathedrals in Europe had provided inspiration for the architects.

Chunks of stone, melted by the terrific heat, became loosened and rolled off the structure. This led to fears in some quarters that the steel fire-proof structure might collapse today, but Chief Kenlon said he thought the solid granite and masonry walls would stand.

The lurid columns of fire illuminated the sky for miles around, their glare being reflected in the placid waters of the Hudson river below. The fire was New York's most spec-

Brazilian President Deserts Official Home To Provide Comforts For Hoovers

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 22.—While President-elect Herbert Hoover was taking part in official ceremonies today, Mrs. Hoover was being feted by the wives of cabinet officers and other high Brazilian officials.

The Hoover goodwill trip through Latin America is virtually finished. The President-elect and his party will sail on the Utah tomorrow afternoon, ending the first tour of its kind ever undertaken by any man elected to the presidency of the United States.

Hoover Satisfied

Mr. Hoover is well satisfied with his trip. He believes it has done much good in bringing South and Central republics in closer touch with the United States and in strengthening the ties of friendship. Members of the Hoover party think that the trip will open up new avenues of communication between the Northern and Southern continents both in friendly intercourse and trade.

Mr. Hoover and his party are staying at the famous Gunabara Palace which formerly was the home of the beautiful Princess Isabel who died in Europe in 1923. The Princess was the last survivor of the royal family which ruled Brazil before it was proclaimed a republic.

The Gunabara Palace is now the summer White House of the Brazilian president, Washington Luiz. The president moved out of the palace temporarily to provide the most comfortable residence possible for Mr. Hoover and his party.

Picturesquely situated, the palace overlooks a quarter of a mile of gardens patterned after those at Versailles. It is high up on the mountainside overlooking the entire city and harbor. Nevertheless its equipment is most modern. Mr. Hoover's temporary office is equipped with a dictaphone, American telephone, latest type of office-desk and other conveniences.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 22.—The move of counsel for Paul Jaworski, Pennsylvania's arch-killer, to have the latter's sentence of death commuted to life imprisonment in an asylum on the grounds of insanity will be contested, District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner said today.

Jaworski who was to have died in the electric chair December 31 was granted a 20 day reprieve yesterday by Gov. John S. Fisher in order that an examination of his mental state could be made. The appeal for a stay of execution, presented by Attorney M. B. CARMI, Ill., Dec. 22.—A man and a woman were being questioned by authorities today in connection with the death of Miss Anna Preher, 45-year-old school teacher, whose partly clothed body was found in her home here late yesterday. The woman's head had been almost severed from her body.

Mrs. Maude Chalfant, city superintendent of schools, discovered the crime when she visited the teacher's home to ascertain why Miss Preher had not attended the afternoon session of the White County Teachers' Institute. Miss Preher was secretary and treasurer of the institute.

Fire Attempt Fails

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 22.—Henry E. Recker of Knoxville rescued his wife and 12 of his 13 children, six of whom had just recovered from the flu, when he returned home early today to find the house in flames.

Arthur Mometer

They've been as good as they possibly could, they haven't fought with the kids next door, and they haven't done much to annoy their Dad, and they've run the errands down to the store. Now of course they were caught in the strawberry jam, and the cat has an injured look on her face, and those dishes broken by themselves no doubt, there's an air of mystery round the place. That window pane was right in the road when the football was kicked, but what of that, and they didn't mean to be bad I know, when they scrambled an egg in their father's hat. Oh they've both been good, well as good as they could, for Santa is coming around their way, but wait till Christmas is over and gone, the weather is cool, twenty-four today.

Forty School Children Make Tour Friday Night Singing Christmas Carols

Three teachers of the North Street School, accompanied by forty children of the school and assisted by the city police and county officers, made the boys and girls of the Margaret Henry Children's Home, the ladies of the Almira Home and the prisoners and night lodgers at the city jail, happy last night as they traveled from place to place singing carols, giving a treat to the children and spreading good cheer and happiness wherever they went.

The start on their tour of good will was made from the First Baptist church with Miss Elizabeth Owens, music teacher of the North Street School in charge and assisted by Miss June Logan and Miss Helen Grotefend, teachers in the school.

Use Four Cars

Four cars were used in transporting the group from place to place. The teachers were in the first car driven by Miss Owens.

In the city patrol wagon, there were twenty-five school children with Officer Robert Dukes as driver and Detective C. G. Logan at the rear end to prevent possible accidents. Then followed the city police car in charge of Officer Carl C. Lockard and Constable A. S. Leslie in which there were ten children. The final car in the procession was that of County Detective W. G. Fleming, who was in personal charge of the machine in which there was a Santa Claus and five children.

Motorcycle Officer Ralph Crisswell was in charge of the parade or caravan of happy children.

The first place visited was the Margaret Henry Home for Children. The boys and girls, in the best bib and tucker, were assembled in one of the larger rooms of the home under the supervision of Miss Henry.

The lights were turned out and a beautiful scene was created when forty North Street boys and girls marched two by two into the room carrying lighted candles and singing

"Daddy" Browning Gives Away Toys; Near Riot Occurs

Wealthy Eccentric New Yorker Causes Traffic Tie-Up On Broadway Today

POLICE RESERVES ARE CALLED OUT

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Edward W. "Daddy" Browning, husband of "Peaches," played Santa Claus today to 30,000 men, women and children with the assistance of ambulances, physicians and a score of police reserves.

Seventeen women fainted during the stampede to enter his luxurious offices on Broadway.

Two children were trampled by the mob and were removed to Roosevelt hospital.

Women with babes in their arms were knocked to the sidewalk as the crowd stormed through the doors of the office building. And a plate glass window in the Nathan Auto Exchange next door was smashed in.

Police Reserves Called.

So overwhelming was the rush to get at the toys with which "Daddy" has stocked his offices for two weeks that police reserves were called.

Traffic was tied up in Broadway for several blocks by huge buses which had brought hopeful mothers and their broods from Long Island and New Jersey towns.

Browning superintended distribution of the gifts not realizing that just below him were scenes reminiscent of the Russian revolution.

As the noon hour approached the crowd became more dense. Calls were sent in for extra police until fully one hundred uniformed men were on duty.

"Daddy's" first intimation that his Christmas party was becoming a riot came when Mrs. Irma Fulton of Jersey City, limped into the offices suffering from a sprained ankle. She was accompanied by her 9-year-old daughter, Evelyn.

"Daddy" immediately ordered his crew of eighty men to assist the police and set aside one mahogany desk as a lost and found department. Here were piled, coats, hats, umbrellas and purses dropped in the scuffle.

FORTY SCHOOL CHILDREN MAKE TOUR FRIDAY NIGHT

Christmas carols. And finally along came Santa Claus.

Santa Greeted

His appearance was apparently the signal for an enthusiastic outbreak on the part of the children of the home, who rushed to his side, kissing him, giving him letters and telling him what they wanted for Christmas.

Santa Claus addressed the group of children of the home, promising to return Christmas Day with nice toys for all good children.

The children of the home had a wonderful time, as did the children of the North Street School, their teachers and others with them. Thirty minutes was spent at this stop. The children of the home beside being entertained were presented with a treat of popcorn, apples, oranges and candy.

Then the North Street children went to th home of Miss Carrie B. Dice, 711 Court street, a teacher in the North Street school, who is sick in bed. Desirous of helping their teacher to forget her troubles, and imbibe some of the happiness of the Christmas season, the boys and girls sang several selections for her while on the front porch of the Dice home.

At Almira Home

From there the group went to Almira Home on East Washington street, where the group were permitted to enter the building and sing several selections. It had been planned to go to the county home but owing to the fact that about thirty minutes had been spent in making each stop and it was getting late for the North Street kiddies, they returned to the city police station.

Here they first sang carols to about ten night lodgers and three or four prisoners in the cellroom. Several of the more hardened looking members of the homeless lodgers crew were seen to turn their heads and drop an honest to goodness tear. They were evidently reminded of something more pleasant and beautiful in the past.

The children then returned to the police courtroom and rendered a program for the police. When this had been completed the teachers gave the children of the group a treat of home made candy, popcorn, etc. The return to their respective homes was then made.

The group of singers under the supervision of Miss Owens consisted of forty boys and girls, both white and colored. All had candles which were used with pretty effect at each of the places where the program of carols was presented. The affair was all the more pleasant because of the fact that those children participating in the affair gave generously of their own none too plentiful supply of goodies to make the others happy, as well as sing for them.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

needy of New Castle should be more than well taken care of this Christmas time. Everyone will get a basket they say. This Round Table seems to Pa Newc to be a worthy project and one that should have been in operation many years ago.

How many people know that at the Senior High school there is a vocational home economic course, the prime purpose of which seems to be to train girls for one of the oldest professions in the world—that of being a home maker. Yet it is there and according to Dr. C. C. Green superintendent of the city's schools it is doing a fine work. Such a course could not be taken too seriously and Pa Newc unreservedly recommends it to any of the young girls in New Castle who might be undecided as to what they wish to do in later life.

Just at the present time model airplanes for the youngsters seem to be all the thing. F'instance, the other evening on the street car a man was seen wrestling one home and it was some job. But nothing to compare to one young reporter who had to fix one that he bought for his nephew after he temporarily disabled it Friday afternoon.

The children at the Lincoln and Garfield school surely know that it is Christmas. Every window in the building has some sort of decorations in it from small Christmas trees to paper chains made by the children's own hands.

One of the funniest things that Pa Newc has seen in his rambles for some time was a truck load of ducks which was parked out on Mercer street Friday. The entire congregation started to make a joyful noise and it was a melody of sounds which was far from being a rhapsody in blue or some other color.

A drive about various streets in the city some night will show you as well as surprise you how many outdoor Christmas trees that have been erected and are glowing with colored lights. Pa Newc would hate to estimate the number but there are a great many.

Pa Newc believes that a warning light should be erected at the curb near the fire station on South Jefferson street, so that strangers in the city would know that a fire station was being approached. It might prevent an accident some day, and at least would aid in clearing the way when the fire trucks are called out.

Richard Thomas Ayres, 907 Hayen street, will be one year old Christmas day. This year his little eyes will glance merrily as he can drink in the sight of a pretty tree that will be prepared for the little youngster.

Have you noticed, or did you notice the Shenango this morning? It was covered with snow and ice and resembled old king winter to the nth degree.

Council demonstrated yesterday that unless waivers for grading damages are secured the city will not do street improvements where it will bring court suits. The city tried to fix Mulberry street, the councilmen said, and got involved in court. The same thing won't happen in Poplar street, they intimated yesterday.

Well, well, that's good, according to Pa Newc's idea of sport. Here we have Coach Phil Bridenbaugh and his New Castle High football team starting the season with a victory at Altoona. The score was 24 to 14. From now until spring the call of basketball will prevail.

The man who had the entire city guessing last summer is ill. Pa Newc heard this today. The gentleman is none other than Stanley Treser. When Stanley made out that puzzle in street names he stirred up more interest than a hornet can trouble. Pa Newc hopes Treser can return to his duties soon.

The viaduct down on Mahoning avenue was a beautiful sight this morning just about daylight or slightly before. The entire steel structure was covered with a light skim of frost and in the dim light, the bridge was a huge gaunt ghost which was as cold as it was beautiful.

Shortly after seven o'clock in the morning when the half of the world are still in bed and a good portion of the rest are still eating breakfast, there is a singular stir of activity on the streets. Street sweepers are working fast and furiously to get done before the rush of traffic, some few business houses have opened, and truck drivers are getting their limousines warmed up for the daily grind.

Dog owners will remember that canine licenses for this year are good only till December 31, but there is a time extension, or rather a leeway of 15 days, which time they may get their licenses. The court house is not ready to distribute the licenses as yet and they will not be given out excepting after January 1.

Pa Newc today saw one gentleman, a businessman, who had to carry his Christmas cards in a box. The gentleman has many to send out. He had evidently spent many hours last evening at home writing the addresses. A touch of cheer to his friends will be felt when they arrived.

A Christmas tree has been erected at the Elks club. It can be seen by everyone who travels North Mill street.

One of the reasons Pa News is informed for the desire to make Sycamore Alley a one-way traffic street is due to parking of automobiles in alleys. Pa Newc is not one who believes everyone should be arrested but he does believe that autoists should realize fire equipment cannot travel through congested alleys and render service. The police have the power to tag cars, you know.

A number of 1929 Ohio licenses were seen on cars traveling the streets of New Castle this morning. The new tags are quite different from those which Ohio motorists used this year. While the old tags consisted of black numerals on a grey background, the new plates have a medium green background with black figures.

Lay Gym Floor At George Washington

Pine Underflooring Has Been Completed; Starting To Lay Maple

Workmen today are laying the maple floor at the gymnasium of the George Washington Junior High school, located on Euclid avenue, according to J. Clyde Gilfillan, contractor in charge of the construction of the building.

The laying of the Georgia pine underflooring was recently completed, states Mr. Gilfillan, and waiting for it to dry before the maple was laid caused a slight delay.

Garbage Employes Idle Christmas

Employes of the department of collection of garbage will not work on Christmas day.

Howard Phillips, superintendent, today announced that the men would be given a day off.

Four trucks are now operated by the department on five days a week and the tin cans are collected on Saturdays.

CONGRESS WILL DO LITTLE

THE short session of congress, which will adjourn in a little more than two months, will round out the Coolidge administration and provide an opportunity for estimating the conditions that will test the Hoover administration at its outset. What this session does or leaves undone will determine to some extent what Mr. Hoover will undertake to do.

Doubtlessly, President Coolidge is holding in abeyance all decisions on new questions which should be left open for the decision of the next chief executive. On all matters, however, the president seems to be pressing for action.

Mr. Coolidge is most concerned, probably, over the state of the treasury as he leaves it in March. He would like to leave the white house with an unbroken record of treasury surpluses, and will work to that end by resisting any spendthrifty move on the part of congress. The seventieth congress has shown itself to be extravagant, even for congress, so the president has his hands full.

There are a number of political observers who think that this congress will leave for the next and Mr. Hoover the job of appeasing agricultural desires and settling those questions which are sectional in their effects and the more troublesome and dangerous for that.

The public has never expected much from a short session, so will not be disappointed if the next two months accomplish nothing more than fill the Congressional Record.

MANY MILLIONS FOR BOULDER DAM

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has signed the Boulder Dam bill and the controversy over Boulder Dam, which has been raging at intervals for six years, may be said to have ended. One of the obstacles that has caused the delay was the difficulty encountered in getting the seven states directly interested upon common ground. But at last a measure that contemplates the eventual expenditure of $165,000,000 has been adopted by congress, and the Hoover administration will come into being on March 4 with this particular serious dispute off its hands.

What is this Boulder Dam? And what has the row been about? The Colorado River is the culprit. It makes a great deal of trouble at times, and frequently threatens to make more. Once it went on a rampage and flooded a big section and formed the Salton Sea. The proposition is to erect a huge dam, the largest ever built, for flood control. Down in the southern end of California is the Imperial Valley. It wants protection. The dam will afford it. An irrigation canal which renders it service runs partially through Mexican territory, and it demands an all-American canal for the watering of its soil. This also it will get when the dam is constructed. Certain cities, notably Los Angeles, need additional water for domestic purposes. The dam will impound and release tremendous supplies. Finally there is power. Electricity can be generated.

It is this hydro-electric power question that has produced much of the battling. The government is committed to flood control. It has long been engaged in building dams for irrigation purposes. There is nothing new in these two propositions. But should it erect a power plant and operate it as a government concern? In other words, should the government engage in commercial business? That point has been the issue at Muscle Shoals and President Coolidge has insisted that it should not. Advocates and opponents of government operation of the Colorado River enterprise have fought each other to a standstill and to a sort of compromise. The bill provides that the power plant may be constructed and run by either the government or private corporations, and the decision is left to the secretary of the interior. Since Mr. Hoover is firmly opposed to government in business it is not difficult to predict the course that the interior department will pursue under him. Well, anyway, Boulder Dam is out of the way, and that is one blessing.

DOG LIES.

One of America's most popular authors frequently writes stories for the magazine that is America's leading exponent of the good, the true and the beautiful.

In these stories the dog's are possessed of intelligence equal to man's That is fair enough. Anything may happen in a fairy tale.

But occassionally this same author writes and this same magazine prints articles concerning dogs. The articles are full of incidents—remarkable incidents that reveal some dog's superhuman intelligence. The author does not present the evidence as hear-say but as fact.

A dog left at home sneaks aboard a ship and follows his master across an ocean six months later; a dog defends a girl from a nice-looking man who really is a villain in disguise, his wicked nature being known to the dog because long ago when the dog was a pup the man cused him; things like that.

Awful bosh! Awful lies. Professional lying at so much a word because dog lovers eat it up.

It's profitable; but should a heaven-home-and-mother magazine do such things? Why is a dog lie any less naughty than any other kind of lie?

Maybe the old poets were inspired by liquor, and maybe they just seemed inspired because the readers had liquor.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who understands human nature, encourages the building of Dr. Reisner's skyscraper church in New York, says "churches must be big enough to dominate skyscrapers. Material as well as spiritual dominance is needed."

That sound idea inspired builders of the old cathedrals. When the Pope ordered Michael Angelo to build St. Peter's in Rome, dominance was the idea, as it was in the building of the cathedrals of Cologne, Milan, Notre Dame and others.

To control men you must control their IMAGINATION.

The world continues discussion of Henry Ford's statement that no boy ever saved money that amounted to anything. It was an interesting generalization, but Rockefeller, who saved money, amounted to something. Benjamin Franklin, who gave up eating meat that he might save money to buy books and saved money that he got by giving swimming lessons in London, amounted to something.

But, on the whole, it is a good thing that this is a spendthrift world, paying money out as fast as it comes in and often much faster. It is money spent that builds up prosperity, not the money saved.

Lord Beaverbrook, who owns the Daily Express and is one of England's smartest men, in the British and American meaning of that adjective, advises Britain to learn to buy and sell motors and other things on the installment plan, as we do here. Spending means business.

Before long, great planes several miles up above wind and storm, sailing round and round the earth, dropping passengers at Paris or Pekin in smaller planes, will take supplies from smaller airplanes, the giant circumnavigating planes landing at rare intervals.

Some of the most scandalous things we have seen have been fried potatoes. And they have not been in our house. We had better say that as Christmas is right around the corner.

New Castle, Pa.
My Dear Fred:—

Your check received for the butter and eggs and I want to thank you for your liberal allowance. It will assist me in getting Matilda the long-looked-for Christmas present.

We have had a very prosperous year, Fred, and I hope you have had the same.

I hope you got your new set of teeth all right as I am going to send you a slab of bacon and a small portion of buckwheat flour.

The myrtle and ivy are not in bloom but the sausages and the buckwheat cakes are in full bloom, and the cider is just right. I used a pound of hydrate of soda to decrease the volume so it would not exceed one-half of one per cent and I used a small portion of buco leaves to increase the flow.

I hope the mud will soon dry away so you can come out and enjoy some of this cider and the good buckwheat cakes and plenty of good sausages.

When you come to Milenial Dawn township take the first road to the right—better wheeling.

The other evening in the moonlight, Matilda and I were thinking of you and your good wife and Matilda repeated a little toast in your honor:

"When you grow old and your nose turns blue,
'Tis a pleasure to remember old friends that have been tried and true.
This sparkling cider, like mountain dew,
Here's to you and your good wife too."

Allow Matilda and I to wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year and many of them.

Sincerely,
LAWRENCE CASTLE.

And some never do pay any taxes because they never get a notice. It's a wonder some one has not raised that point to escape paying taxes.

If private businesses had to be run the way the city business has to be conducted there wouldn't be any private business very long. The city has the advantage when it needs more revenue and adds more millage. Private enterprises have to get along on their own resources or bust.

Very few states will make laws after this providing life imprisonment for those who are convicted four times for offenses against the law if arrests for violating the 18th amendment are to be counted. Some governors have already ruled that the liquor laws should not be counted as offenses.

Just because a man gets nothing but neckties for Christmas gifts is not a good argument for him to think he gets everything in the neck.

'Tis Christmas time again—may this mean all that you hope it will mean.

Betty Bright—Please don't; my friends would say I didn't do my Christmas shopping early enough.

Program For Calendar Reform Attracts Attention Of Public

Eminent And Powerful Forces Are Behind Thirteen-Month Year Idea, But Press Sees Many Obstacles Ahead

The question of world calendar reform, upon which public attention has been focused through the bill introduced in the House by Representative Porter of Pennsylvania, providing for conferences with other nations, is discussed by the press with emphasis upon obstacles of getting the people of the principal nations to accept the uniform 13-month program.

Behind this proposed reform the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION finds "a host of eminent representatives of finance, commerce, industry, insurance, railway, labor and the press.  The complex business world in which we live today," says The Times-Union, "is all so new that we are only beginning to appreciate the inefficiency of the system of dividing the year into unequal months."

"Since the calendar as a measure of time for man's convenience," observes the CHARLESTON DAILY MAIL, "has been changed a number of times without interfering with the earth's regular march around its orbit, with the real length of the day or with that of the week; since such a change has not brought or prevented hurricane, earthquake or flood and is not responsible for epidemics; since empires have neither risen nor fallen because of such readjustments as it has pleased mankind to make—it would appear as if the world could make another change, if it chose, without experiencing disaster."

"Old-fashioned years have followed one another without much change since the time of the Egyptians," the CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE states, "and it remains for modern men to reconstruct the calendar to suit the modern need. Though time and temperament are hard to change, the new year of 13 months gains new support as time goes on, and even Congress will consider it this year.  The United States Weather Bureau, astronomers, business men have long advocated the year of 13 months. The plan and its promotion owe much to George Eastman of Rochester. The old calendar is an aggregate of whims and half-found science.  The time for a new calendar is here. Congress should support Representative Porter's resolution."

"Many difficulties in the way" are noted, however, by the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS, with the conclusion that "the chief one is general inertia—the unwillingness to face any new change, however uncomfortable or unsatisfactory the present situation is." The Virginia paper believes that "no harm can be done by the adoption of the Porter resolution and the consultation of other nations. A system of 13 months of equal length has its obvious advantages, if it can be uniformly installed without too much of confusion."

"It will be a weighty business, this changing of the calendar," declares the ALBANY KNICKERBOCKER PRESS, which suggests that "The movement has progressed now to the point where those citizens whose sentiments the advocates of reform are anxious to assay should begin to look into the matter and study the advantages and disadvantages of the plan." The Knickerbocker Press refers to action by the Pan-American conference and states that "since October, 1927, a committee appointed by the United States Chamber of Commerce has been studying the subject."

"Anyone who starts out to make this change has a job on his hands," says the WALLA WALLA DAILY BULLETIN, recalling that "the mightiest astronomers of forgotten centuries wrestled with this problem" and that "the wisest men of all time have contributed their best wisdom on the subject." The Bulletin continues: "There has been one important change in the calendar. That was in 1582 when the Julian calendar established by Julius Caesar was discarded for the present or Gregorian calendar. If Mr. Porter succeeds in giving us a still greater improvement he will have made a place in history."

"The plan is winning increasing support in many countries," according to the OTTAWA JOURNAL, "and while no doubt it will be opposed vigorously by those who look upon even 'daylight saving' as unwarranted human interference with a celestial arrangement of hours and days, there seems to be considerable ground for optimism."

As to whether the advantages offered by the new system of reckoning time would offset the possible disadvantages is a question in the opinion of the Ann ARBOR DAILY NEWS. "Looking into the future, and considering it in connection with the present, one might readily say that the reform ought to be undertaken; however, the present, and likewise the future, have definite connections with the past, and in instances where dates are importantly involved, the change easily could cause confusion. Students of history, for example, might well find reasonable objections."

"The subject is challenging more attention and interest every year," concludes the ATLANTA JOURNAL. "We are now told by its advocates that it is their hope to have the nations of the world agree on a 13-month year by 1933, when January 1 falls on Sunday. With this end in view they are striving for an international conference.  While the calendar reformers are at work, it is respectfully suggested that they might amend their program by provision that all holidays should fall on Monday.  It might be well, too, if the number of holidays were materially reduced."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

PEANUTS, IF YOU LIKE.

The vast field of commodities and products which a railroad transports, gives rise to many unusual and interesting shipments. One of these occurred on the Southern Pacific Railroad the other day, when it shipped nearly fifty tons of flowers from San Mateo County, near San Francisco, to New Orleans. The shipment, carried in ten refrigerator express cars, and consisting of approximately 125,000 chrysanthemums of all colors, together with asparagus ferns, will be used in celebrating All Souls' Day, an important holiday in the church calendar of New Orleans.

Another commodity is peanuts. The extent and importance of this product of American industry is revealed in a trade bulletin which has just been issued by the Foodstuffs Division. Last year the 12-peanut growing States produced 807,000 tons with a farm value of more than $32,000,000. Georgia is the largest grower of peanuts, producing the Spanish-type nut used chiefly for shelling and in the manufacture of peanut oil. The larger Virginia-type peanut usually sold in the shell is grown in Virginia, and the neighboring States of North Carolina and Tennessee.

The popularity of confections containing peanuts is indicated by the steady increase in the consumption by candy manufacturers. In 1927 it is estimated that approximately 100,000 tons of shelled peanuts were used for this purpose.

Notwithstanding its enormous production of peanuts, the United States each year imports large quantities from China, one of the world's leading producers of these nuts. Last year these imports amounted to nearly 20,000 tons and had a value of more than $1,500,000. Chinese peanuts shipped to the United States are all specially selected for their large size and are chiefly used for slating and in confectionery.

Less than one per cent of the total American peanut production is exported, Canada taking the bulk in these shipments. It is interesting to note, however, that American peanuts, salted and in confections, are shipped in small quantities to approximately 50 foreign countries.

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT.

Isn't it strange, oh brother o' mine,
How many differences are forgot
When the lights of Christmas twinkle and shine?
Isn't it strange how every thought
Turns to others and leaps to say:
"Yours be a Merry Christmas day!"

Isn't it strange my brother, then
Hate and envy and greed die down
And we all wish joy for our fellowmen?
The humblest and poorest ones in town
Smile at each other and dare to say:
"Yours be a Merry Christmas day!"

All the weeks of the long year through
Men remember their petty wrongs,
See the evil that others do
And join themselves into warring throngs.
But cometh the Christmas and hate's forgot
And all of the quarreling matters not.

Oh, brother o' mine, what a world 'twould be
If "yours be a merry heart today!"
Were ever the thought of you and me
And hate and malice were put away
What smiles we'd see and what praises we'd hear
If the Christmas spirt lived all the year.

Hoover Approval Causing Delay In New Farm Measure

Congress Asks Hoover to Approve New McNary-Haugen Relief Measure

COOLIDGE APPEARS FAVORED TO BILL

Believed That President-Elect Hoover Will Sanction New Legislation

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—For the first time in five years of constant agricultural warfare, congress and President Coolidge appeared today to have agreed upon a happy compromise in the new McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

The agreement however does not insure early action on the bill as congressional leaders are awaiting some definite word from President-elect Herbert Hoover before calling up the measure. The president-elect, it was learned, has been queried as to his wishes three times since he left on his South American good will tour but as yet has not replied.

Hoover May Approve

Farm relief leaders have predicted that Mr. Hoover will make his views known as soon as he reaches the coast of Florida early in the new year. Then, he is expected to say whether he wishes the present congress to enact the new McNary-Haugen bill or whether he prefers to have the legislation help up for a special session of the new congress after he takes office as President March 4.

The McNary-Haugen bill incidentally has Mr. Hoover's approval. According to a story told in high Republican circles, this same bill—with the equalization fee left out—was drafted a year ago by Hoover himself and Secretary of Agriculture Jardine and sent to the senate agricultural committee. It never saw the light of day, since congress at that time was intent on enacting the bill which carried the equalization fee.

Since the election, it was said, Senator McNary (R) of Ore., merely revived the old Hoover-Jardine bill, put in a few minor changes and reintroduced it.

Doran, U. S. prohibition commissioner, says San Francisco is one of the wettest spots in the country. Rolph, mayor of San Francisco, says: "Why, I wouldn't know where to take anyone to buy a drink."

One of the factors that help make prohibition such a difficult problem is the refusal of people of importance to look clearly at the situation as it is. It is not so much that they lack information as that they wish to avoid information. That's a fatal attitude for anyone who really wants to get something done.

It's hard to make a sheep believe it.

Vincent Rice, 17 years old, who killed a 15-year-old high school girl, is allowed to plead guilty to second degree murder. He said he murdered the girl because she wanted to kiss him.

Austria is poor, but manages to spend $114,000,000 a year for alcoholic drinks, $20 yearly for every Austrian. That will depress good prohibitionists. But the Austrians at least get "real stuff." How much do you suppose this country spends for liquor that enriches bootleggers and undertakers?

Our government spends more trying vainly to keep Americans from drinking than Austria spends for all drink.

Teachings of religion, misunderstood, still cause suffering and torments the helpless.

Mrs. Elizabeth Engbarth told a neighbor, "my life merits the punishment of hell." Determined that her boy, four years old, should go to heaven and be an angel, she laid down with the child in her arms and turned on the gas. Fortunately the child's cries saved them.

Millions are tormented by the belief, instilled from childhood, that they are doomed to eternal torture, for doing that which is simply the irresistible result of heredity, going back fifty millions of years.

Attractive Program Given In Connection With Gift Service In First Presbyterian Church

The annual White Gifts service of the First Presbyterian Bibles chool will be held Sunday morning at the time of the morning church service. During the service the White Gifts of the various classes of the Bible school and of the various organizations and individuals of the church will be collected.

A Christmas Carol
By Dinah Maria Mulock

GOD rest ye, merry gentlemen; let nothing you dismay,
For Jesus Christ, our Saviour, was born on Christmas day.
The dawn rose red o'er Bethlehem, the stars shone through the gray,
When Jesus Christ, our Saviour, was born on Christmas day.

God rest ye, little children; let nothing you affright,
For Jesus Christ, your Saviour, was born this happy night;
Along the hills of Galilee the white flocks sleeping lay,
When Christ, the Child of Nazareth, was born on Christmas day.

God rest ye, all good Christians; upon this blessed morn
The Lord of all good Christians was of a woman born:
Now all your sorrows He doth heal, your sins He takes away;
For Jesus Christ, our Saviour, was born on Christmas day.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE PIGEON WHO WANTED TO POUT

The bird stopped talking, and, arching his neck, began to preen his feathers.

Then he ruffled them out until he looked like a soft, fluffy gray ball, ever so much larger than he had in the beginning, and slowly turned all the way around.

Peter couldn't guess what he was doing that for until he explained.

"There, that is the best I can do, boys," said he. "Every time I think about being a great-great-grandson of those brave messengers of old, I feel so proud that I just cannot help swelling out a bit. If ever I wish I was a Pouter Pigeon, it is at a time like this."

"Now, why in the world should you wish a thing like that?" asked the boy. "I have not seen many Pouters, but I do not think they are nearly as handsome as you are. They look all out of shape to me."

"I am afraid you are no judge of pigeon beauty, boy," declared his new friend.

"Out of shape, indeed! Why, there is scarcely a dove among us who does not long to be able to puff out like Pouter. If I could only do it, you would know at once just exactly how proud I am.

"To me, it seems wonderful to make oneself look as large as one feels.

"Every pigeon I know would give his tail feathers to do it—that is, every pigeon but the Fantail—he wouldn't part with a quill from his tail for all the world, even though he could well spare it, for he has thirty-six, while the rest of us have only twelve. It is that very fact, though, that makes him different.

"By the way, I hope you meet Fantail one of these days; he is a chap worth knowing, a bit conceited, perhaps, but then you need not mind that. He is so good natured—would do almost anything to help a fellow."

Peter had been thinking—indeed, he had scarcely noticed what Pigeon had last said.

"You spend a lot of time in praising your relatives, but so far you have not said anything at all about yourself," remarked the boy. "Being a Carrier Pigeon, you must have been a messenger for some one some time in your life. Or is it possible that you are one of the wild doves they talk about?"

Coolidges Not Swamped By Christmas Gifts Of Turkeys And Delicacies

President Coolidge, With Term Nearing End, Finds Friends Have Deserted Him

Outlook Now Is That Coolidges Will Have To Buy Their Christmas Dinner

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The closing days of an administration are always lean days. With the familiar "the king is dead, long live the king," spirit, the public quickly turns from the outgoing and bestows its homage on the incoming.

President Coolidge is finding this to be true in one most conspicuous way during this Christmas season.

Usually, Thanksgiving and Christmas roll around and find the White House doorstep piled high with all sorts of delicacies for the holiday table. Turkeys, wild game of all descriptions, fruit cakes, oranges and innumerable other edible tributes pour in from admirers all over the land.

Inquiry at the executive offices Friday, however, indicated President Coolidge may have to buy a greater portion of his Christmas dinner—which, of course, he is quite able to do.

The clerk who receives such gifts and disposes of them "just didn't remember what had come in." The stenographer who acknowledges the gifts "just couldn't remember" what she had acknowledged. A messenger finally was found who remembered seeing three live turkeys over at the main house, but where they came from he didn't know.

"The livestock and produce situation this year is rather lean," admitted Edward T. Clark, the president's private secretary, with a laugh.

Time was when airplanes were chartered to bring fowls, which had been nursed carefully a whole year, from half way across the continent. Producers raced with each other to get their contributions in first. Press agents ballyhooed the whole thing.

But not this year.

JURY IS OUT IN KLEE CASE

Afternoon Miss Klee was recalled to the stand. She said that J. J. Laing had come into her office on September 14 and had talked to her about concession at the fair. She had gone with him to the fair grounds, but denied that there had been any sale of liquor. She also contradicted Laing's statement that he had bought liquor at one o'clock that day by saying that she was at the Mercer fair at that time.

Miss Klee denied having gone to any gasoline station to get any liquor, but admitted having gone around to a gas station with Laing, where he was to get some water for his automobile, she said. She also admitted having gone to the home of Mrs. Feddings with Laing, but denied getting any liquor there.

Went to Office on 18th

She admitted having been in the office on the night of September 18th when Laing and State Officer Brush came into the office, but said that she had gone there to get a paper she was to use at a meeting of the Margaret Copeland Circle, which was being held that night.

She said that Laing had come into the office and talked for some time and then had asked her who was in the automobile across the street, and charged that the automobile contained liquor. Miss Klee denied knowing anything of the car, whereupon she said that Laing had given her five minutes to tell him or he would arrest her. She said he would have to arrest her, as she knew nothing of the automobile.

She admitted talking to Officer Brush in the office that night, but said that Brush did not arrest her then. He did arrest her at the fair the next day, but she said that Brush apologized for having to serve a warrant on her.

Miss Klee denied any connection with liquor sales or of having ever seen the liquor which was produced in evidence.

Mrs. G. J. Lewis of this city, a member of the Margaret Copeland Circle of the Third U. P. church, was sworn and testified that the secretary of the Circle, Mrs. David Brown, was sick in bed. Mrs. Lewis identified the minutes of the Circle, which showed that Miss Klee, the leader of the Circle, was not present at the opening of the meeting on the night of September 18. She came in later.

District Attorney Bryan objected to these minutes being introduced on the the grounds that they did not show whether or not Miss Klee had gone to her office on the night of September 18, but after some argument they were admitted.

Miss Neva Moore, secretary to the farm agent, was sworn and testified that she occupied the same office as Miss Klee. She said she had never seen any evidences of liquor about the office. Miss Elizabeth Gray testified to going to Ellwood City with Miss Klee on September 15.

The following character witnesses were heard: H. R. McCullough, J. Audley Boak, Luther M. Reed, F. F. Forbes, J. E. Ellis, A. H. Fullerton, A. Clyde Shoaf, Ex-Judge W. E. Porter, R. R. McGeorge, Attorney Roy W. Hazen, W. H. Atkinson.

The defense rested at four o'clock and the commonwealth said it had no rebuttal testimony.

Clyde B. Aitchinson of Oregon, Claude R. Porter of Iowa, and Patrick J. Farrell of the District of Columbia.

Aitchinson and Porter would have gone out of office December 31 had they not been confirmed. Farrell was serving under a recess appointment.

JONES' CASE IS GIVEN TO JURY AT BUTLER, PA.

ments to the jury before court adjourned late yesterday.

Although the court overruled the motion of defense counsel to strike from the record the testimony of state troopers concerning the alleged confession, attorneys for the defendant related to the jurors the method under which the alleged confession was obtained. The defense contended that Jones underwent a severe grilling and in a state of complete exhaustion signed the confession.

State troopers testified that Jones had been compelled to undergo a severe examination but denied that any third degree methods had been employed to make him talk. On the other hand, Jones said the confession resulted after he collapsed physically from the long hours of grilling.

Grid Coach At Oregon State College Is Victim Of Stabbing By Jealous Man

(International News Service)

CORVALLIS, Ore., Dec. 22.—Lewis "Hip" Dickerson, assistant coach at Oregon State college, died here Friday as the result of being stabbed in the back by Lanza Bryant in a quarrel over a girl.

The stabbing affray took place shortly after Dickerson and the girl left a restaurant where she was employed. Bryant is said to have followed the couple and to have forced an argument. In the fight which followed Bryant drew a knife and plunged it into Dickerson's back. The blade pierced his lung.

Dickerson was a powerful athlete, weighing 230 pounds and standing six feet seven inches.

Charges of first degree murder will be filed against Bryant, now held in the county jail at Portland.

Waldorf-Astoria, Famous Hostelry To Be Dismantled

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Another of New York City's famous landmarks is about to succumb to the march of commerce. The Waldorf-Astoria, one of the world's best-known hotels since the dawn of the century, is to be torn down to make way for a 50-story office building.

Lucius M. Boomer, president of the Waldorf-Astoria Realty company announced that the hostelry had been sold to the Bethlehem Engineering corporation and would be torn down next summer. The sale price was reported to be approximately $20,000,000.

Shipping War Is Began In Earnest

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—War was officially declared today between the shipping board and the British Cunard line for the winter tourist business to Cuba.

At a meeting the board formally authorized the merchant fleet corporation to put the Trans-Atlantic Liner President Roosevelt into the New York-Havana service "to meet the challenge issued to it by the Cunard Steamship company."

This is the first year the Cunard line has had ships in the Cuban service which the board regards as belonging exclusively to American companies.

Coolidge Greets Youthful Aviator

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Richard James of Flushing, Long Island, the 17-year-old cross country flier, was presented to President Coolidge Friday.

President Coolidge conversed about five minutes with the boy aviator, asking him about the details of his cross-country flight and complimenting him upon his courage and resourcefulness. Mr. Coolidge exhibited much interest in young James' adventures over the mountains of Pennsylvania, where so many airmen have come to grief.

"Just a Running Fool"

By QUIN HALL.

THE UNITED STATES fans who follow the indoor track meets held during the Winter months have a treat in store for them during the present season as Percy Williams, the frail youngster from the Canadian West who is now known as the new world's sprinting champion, has signified his intention of competing in the Millrose games as well as strutting his stuff at several other important indoor meetings over on this side of the border.

Young Williams, the Vancouver speedster who will not be 20 years old until next May, has the distinction of being the only athlete to win two events during the 1928 Olympics held in Amsterdam. Percy copped both the 100 and 200-meter dashes. In both events, when he was near the tape he uncorked bursts of speed which seemingly left his rivals standing still. And this is some feat when it is considered that he was working his feet against the pick of the world's best short distance men.

Up in the Northwest the Canadians refer to the youngster as "just a running fool" and they haven't forgotten how Percy worked his way into Toronto as a waiter in a dining car so that he could be on hand to compete in the Dominion championships. And he left Vancouver 12 months before the trials were to be held so that he would have plenty of time to make the trip and still be in the best of condition when the big test came.

Williams was one of the outstanding Olympic sensations and following his double victory he received a scholarship in the University of British Columbia as a tribute from his fellow citizens in Vancouver, who also started a memorial fund for the purpose of starting Williams in business upon completion of his university course.

After winning the dashes at Amsterdam the officials of the Canadian team decided to give him a rest and suggested replacing him on the relay team, but he insisted on seeing it through and stated that his work wasn't finished until that race had been run. The officials had also been willing to scratch his entry in the 200-meter after he had won the 100, but he insisted on running and thereby established his unique Olympic record.

Williams says that he does not keep any strict training regime. He isn't a vegetarian nor is he a teetotaler, although his drinking is done very much in moderation.

Experts claim that Williams is an outstanding example to prove that the American and French methods of training "against the watch" are all wrong. Percy has been running over a period of two years and never once in that time has his trainer sent him out to run against time. Even in training he always runs against an opponent who is given a handicap, and Percy is not trained to beat any particular time, but instead he is told to beat his opponent. This method of training is said to account for the bursts of speed at the finish with which the "running fool" was able to beat the fields of champions during the events at Amsterdam.

Williams undoubtedly is a master workman when it comes to the sprint distances, and his neighbors out in Western Canada have just cause to feel mighty proud of their new champion.

His intention of competing in the States during the indoor season will surely create an added interest in those meets where he is to strut his speed, and unless our sprinters show more stuff than they exhibited during the Olympics young Williams is bound to return to Vancouver with added honors garnered during the Winter season on the indoor tracks.

Sentence Court Is Held Today

Alfred V. Montieth Is Given From Two To Six Years In Penitentiary

At court this morning sentence was passed by Judges Hildebrand and Chambers on a number of persons who had either pleaded guilty or been convicted at the present term of court.

Alfred V. Montieth, for an assault upon a girl under the age of sixteen years, was sentenced to pay $50 and costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two nor more than six years.

William C. Fowler, driving while intoxicated, was fined $200 and costs and sentenced three months to the county jail. He is to be released in 45 days upon the payment of the fine and costs.

F. A. Bray, possessing liquor, was paroled for two years upon the payment of $100 fine and costs.

George Wasson, alleged to have been driving while intoxicated, $200 fine and costs and three months to jail to be released in twenty days upon the payment of fine and costs. Wasson claimed that he had been ill and had taken a couple of drinks of whiskey and some asofoetida tablets for rheumatism. He had driven from Youngstown to New Bedford and was in a store making some purchases when he was arrested by Constable McClenahan.

Stephen Shaneski, for possessing liquor, was fined $300 and costs and given one year to the Allegheny county workhouse. Stephen had been before the court on four other occasions. The only thing that could be said in his behalf was that it had been about two years or more since he was sent up the last time.

Mike Peskovivh, for violating his parole by not paying the fine and costs, was directed to pay $100 and costs, which he was able to do. He had been arrested on a liquor charge when he was paroled. He claimed that the reason he had not paid was because he was ill and unable to work.

Mrs. Margaret Pusinski of Bessemer, for manufacturing liquor, was paroled upon the payment of $300 fine and costs. Mrs. Pusinski stated that she had been making liquor for her husband to use in celebrating Christmas and the holiday season. Her husband works in a mill at Youngstown and they are buying a little farm at Hillsville. Mrs. Pusinski has six children, the oldest about 14. The court was of the opinion that it should have been the husband who should have been before the court, but he was not at home at the time the officers visited the house. There was no evidence of sales having been made.

Other sentences will be passed next week.

Start To Unravel Rothstein Murder

Rothstein Murder Mystery Is Slowly Being Solved By New York Officials

BELIEVE DOPESTERS KILLED GAMBLER

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Like a piece of elastic too tightly twisted, the Arnold Rothstein murder mystery with all of its ramifications of dope rings, police shakeups, gambling debts and will contests, today began to unwind itself.

With Joseph Unger, alias Klein awaiting sentence, after unexpectedly pleading guilty to possessing $2,000,000 worth of dope seized here, the federal authorities confidently expect to have the whole mess cleaned up within a few weeks. Unger is the key that is expected to unlock the door. Facing a long prison term, which at his age is virtually a life sentence, government operatives believe he will "tell all" in the hope of gaining some measure of immunity.

Whatever angles of mystery remain after Unger talks will be fought tooth and nail by the reorganized police department and the surrogate's court.

Detective Joseph Daly, who has been working on the Rothstein mystery since it "broke" was demoted today by Commissioner Whalen and new men will be assigned to do the city's investigation work.

The hearing in the surrogate's court on the slain gambler's will, which is being contested by his relatives continued over the week-end, with Surrogate O'Brien intimating that he would order Maurice Cantor, the gambler's attorney and one of the estate's chief beneficiaries examined. Cantor has been loath to testify for fear of endangering his inheritance.

"See the ill-bred hick!" "No; that's the great genius." "Why, so it is. Isn't he charmingly original!"

Adult Readers At Library Are Fiction Fanciers

Children Read Smaller Percentage Of Fiction Works Than Adults

It hardly indicates that children do not enjoy fiction and it probably indicates that children are being taught how and what to read but figures at the public library show that there is a greater percentage of adults read fiction books than do the juveniles.

In the report of Alice M. Sterling librarian for the past month, the adult fiction readers totalled 5,799 while readers who preferred other than fiction numbered only 1,291.

However in the juvenile department the total number of books borrowed was 11,985 while 4,227 non-fiction books are listed in comparison with some 7,000 fiction works.

Foster's Weather Prognostication

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22, 1928.—As winter arrives, December 22, all weather features will be expected to be of a moderate nature; a storm wave of moderate intensity will be expected to cross continent during week centering on 23; a cold wave of moderate extremes will be expected to follow this storm wave center very closely, if not actually move with the center of this disturbance; precipitation during this storm period will be in moderate amounts, but will be fairly well distributed over the continent; least precipitation during last part of December will be expected in western spring wheat belt and northwest; heaviest precipitation during this period will occur in sections 2 and 4 and in eastern parts of 1 and 3. A storm wave of mild intensity will cross northern part of continent during week centering on 28, but will be of little importance excepting to cause warm period that will not be favorable to winter grains in general; this period will also be unfavorable to the suppression of the present epidemic of flu.

Little is known regarding influenza, commonly called "flu". For many years these bulletins have theorized that epidemics of diseases are caused by the action of inter-planetary forces entering our atmosphere. Some theorists now believe that what they call an inter-stellar dust may be responsible for such epidemics. The cycle of Jupiter fits the time elapsed between the present flu epidemic and that of 1917, but such a cycle will not explain why the 1917 wave of infection spread westward and the present one is spreading eastward in America.

Fr. Ricard of Santa Clara, Calif., College, has found that at times of effective positions lines drawn from centers of planets, included in such positions, to center of sun, control the location of spots formed on sun; that the location and movements of spots upon the sun allocate corresponding barometric pressures or storm waves on the earth. The breeding and spread of epidemics is caused by very similar natural laws to those that cause sunspots and earth storms. Another 50 years of progress will no doubt produce many specialists in inter planetary forces, rays etc.; this branch of science offers the greatest possibilities to future investigators.

Moon phases in the near future occur as follows: full, December 26; last quarter, January 2; new, 11; first quarter, 18; full, 25; last quarter, February 1. Details of expected crop-weather features of January, 1929, will appear in next weekly bulletin.

Get Dog Licenses After January 1

Licenses Must Be Secured Between January 1 and 15, Says State Man

Despite the fact that dog licenses for the year December 31, there is a time extension which many seem to have misunderstood, states J. Wylie Brewster, of the state bureau of animal industry.

Despite the fact that all dog licenses legally expire December 31, the licenses may not be secured until January 1. Dog owners should get these licenses between January 1 and 15. It is after the latter date that the prosecutions begin and not the first of the year.

Owners in the county may get the licenses after January 1 at the court house and from then on to an indefinite date. However, all dogs are supposed to have been licensed prior to January 15.

There are a great number of dogs in the county, some 5,000 in number, and owners should start to secure the licenses immediately after the first of the year so as to avoid a rush at the last few days, states Brewster.

No licenses will be given out at the court house prior to January 1.

Adventists Resolve Against Sunday Law

Pass Resolution Friday Protesting Against Civil Laws Regulating Sabbath

A resolution against legislation compelling all sects to observe the Sunday laws was passed by the Seventh Day Adventists at their church 33½ East Washington street, states E. D. The resolution states that the civil government and the church occupy two separate and distinct spheres and that God made the conscience free in the realm of religion and never intended that it should be enslaved by the civil authorities.

Hoover's Plurality Is 6,512,610 Latest Figures Revealing

Popular Vote In Nation Will Reach To Approximately 38,000,000

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Official and final figures on the general election of Nov. 6 are not yet available, but from unofficial figures compiled by W. Tyler Page, clerk of the house of representatives, it appeared today, he said, that the total popular vote will be approximately 38,000,000, an increase of 25 per cent over any previous election in history.

Page's unofficial figures indicate Hoover's popular vote would be 21,943,328, as against Smith's 15, 430,718, or a Hoover plurality of 6,512,610.

Half a dozen states, slow in compiling their official returns, have not reported, and are holding up the issuance of final figures on the election.

Your Broadway And Mine

By WALTER WINCHELL

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The New Castle News

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—From one of the Broadwayfarers, who is up on Such Things, comes the interesting theory that the reason why last year's favorite orchestras and bands are now in provinces instead of playing on Broadway is because the local public became fed up with listening to stale tunes. Repeating such songs as "Ramona" and "Loff, Clown, Loff," and other numbers more than six weeks old, according to the writer, is out of order. And the reason for the success of Irving Aaronson's crew and The Montrealers and the Lido Club Orchestra is because they've adopted the plan of never playing a melody, by request or otherwise, that has been "butchered" by repitition.

There are exceptions, however, so far as this corner is concerned. When you like the tune, it never matters how much you hear it. "Song of India" will never stale with us, nor "The St. Louis Blues," "Chiquita" or "Franky and Johnny"—that is, when they are played in the vulgar and low-down manner. You know, in the "Man in a Boat" tempo, slow and pashy.

NEWSPAPERMAN STUFF

Harry Locke, the actor, relays the quip about the editor who asked the applicant: "Have you had any previous newspaper experience?"

"No," chirped the young fellow, "but I was editor of our school magazine."

"Oh, I'm so sorry," was the cruel retort, "but we've got an editor."

AIR SLANG

David Freud forwards a few bits of aviation slanguage which he clipped from a booklet called "Skywords." One who talks about flying but who has never flown is listed as a "modock".....A "godunk.. is a name given to people who seek a ride in a plane without paying for it..... and "Kee Wee" is a name handed to air service personnel during the Late Quarrel who did not fly, for the Kee Wee is an Australian bird with tiny wings which makes a lot of noise but cannot even hop.

And, we presume, a person who can fly from New York to Paris in 33 hours, alone, is a "Flyin' Fool."

HEHEH

Mae Tinee, a moom pitcher critic in the Chicago Tribune, says among other things: ".....Adolphe Menjou prefers Sealyhams. Sealyhams are dogs."

And Riq, the clown, who discovered it, adds: "I mean, they ACT-ually are!"

AWAKENING

Today, while walking down the busy street,
I passed the cafe where we used to eat,
And, backward turning,
Said again I'd dine
At the same table,
Just for auld lang syne.

Oh, could it be we thought the food so rare?
Or was it just 'cause love was in the air?
I do recall—when your eyes
Laughed in mine
I'd drink ice-water
And declare it wine.

Then came a day when neither one could eat.
We had to part, and love had been so sweet.
And as I dined alone
My heart grew sad.
'Twas you I missed—
The food was always bad!
—Jean Douglas.

A COLD NIGHT, TOO

Charlie Washburn, George Cohan's exploiter, tells this one. It happened years ago, when a new Joe Weber (of Weber and Fields) show opened in Washington. Joe stood in the foyer at midnight when the premiere was far from being over. Cold perspiration was dropping from his brow. "I guess it's a rotten show, eh?" he mused.

"Certainly not," comforted a pal. "Even with the show being so late, you don't see any of the audience walking out, do you?"

"Walking out?" was the bitter response. "Where could they go in Washington?"

THE SIPPER CLUB

A light or two that twinkles,
A dozen naughty winks;
A little ice that tinkles
In a few forbidden drinks.

A sleepy cop a-winking
On a corner, near the door—
Why, really, legal drinking
Now would be an awful bore!
Wilfred J. Funk.

ABE MARTIN On Inventions

EMPLOYES LEAVIN' A GREAT FACTORY IN 1932 AT TH' CLOSE OF A THREE-HOUR DAY

Th' sensational an' disturbin' prediction recently made by an outstandin' figure in American industrial life "that it is only a question o' a few years till our inventive skill 'll do away with all demand fer intellectual an' physical labor," should set us t' thinkin'. New an' ingenuous laborsavin' devices are invented ever' hour o' th' day, substitutes fer this an' that flood th' market, great chains o' stores o' one sort or another are managed by one head, an' it is only a question o' time till ther'll be an automatic chain store manager invented. Ther's a new can opener on th' market now that any fifteen-year-ole bride kin safely operate without th' loss o' blood. Th' new bookkeepin' machines are drivin' thousan's o' ole trusted bookkeepers int' th' fields o' th' unemployed an' seriously cripplin' th' doughnut industry. Great industrial concerns are combinin' an' doin' away with countless back-number directors an' factory heads, an' a new electrical man now replaces pumpin' station employes, an' it's predicted that he's slated t' do away with all branch managers an' good-will men. This is a machine age, a button-pushin' age, an age of efficiency an' progress that nothin' seems t' stop, or even discourage. Ther seems t' be some sort of a friendly understandin' between production an' consumption, an' an unseen power behind business that pushes it ahead in spite o' ever'thing. Evidence o' this is seen in th' way industry held up an' business men voted wet in spite of th' traditional scares of a presidential campaign. Th' success o' either Smith or Hoover wuz never considered in mortgagin' a home fer a car or radio. Efficiency an' organization have thrown many thousan's out o' employment. Business men used t' take ten minutes fer lunch. A few ole-fashioned ones even t'day take only three hours, but most business men have ther affairs in such shape that they don't even have t' be available. O' course somethin' 'll have t' be done in th' way o' cuttin' down our population, fer it kin easily be seen that we'll have a great surplus o' idle inhabitants in a few years. Th' auto is doin' its part along this line, an' I look fer other death dealin' contraptions t' be invented t' take even a greater toll o' human life. A great scare went up when th' twine binder wuz invented an' ever-buddy asked what's t' become o' th' thousan's thrown out o' employment by th' invention. Then th' corn shredder showed up t' kill off most o' th' surplus help. Then ever so often a traction engine would blow up. Somethin' allus seems t' foller ever' labor-savin' device that takes care o' those cut off from ther livelihood. I look fer th' radio t' replace newspapers, theaters an' Rotary club orators. Th' "sound" invention has already replaced thousan's o' musicians t' say nothin' o' saxophone players. Right now President-elect Hoover is workin' on somethin' t' drive poverty ferever from our land, so us Democrats should worry.

GIRL SCOUTS

KEYSTONE TROOP

The members of the Keystone Troop, No. 1, are doing all they can to bring happiness to some unfortunate people, especially children, this Christmas time. They have, as in the past, adopted a little girl from the Margaret Henry Home. This means they will get her one thing she needs and one thing she wants.

In addition to this, the girls, together with those of Mrs. Hangar's troop, are making Christmas stockings, which will be filled with candy, nuts, etc. These will be distributed to children of several needy families.

Several baskets will also be packed with food, toys and clothing on Christmas eve. This will be done at the Y. W. C. A. and the things will be delivered by the girls and leaders of the troops.

Every Scout expects to have a merry Christmas, and each wishes to help make a merry Christmas for someone else.

HIGHLAND CHURCH TROOP

Recently the Girl Scout troop of the Highland U. P. church were invested with tenderfoot pins. This entitles the troop to all privileges of the organization.

Due to so much sickness, only 13 girls were made Scouts. The rest of the girls will be invested in January. Leaders in charge of this troop, Miss Elizabeth Parker, Miss Grace Jones.

It is generally agreed that people can't stand prosperity, but no two seem to agree as to the proper way to stand it.

Feeding Shelters Made For Small Game By Scouts

Birds and small game around New Wilmington will find feeding shelters this winter through the work of the Boy Scouts of New Wilmington. Early this morning Game Protector Frank Johnson and Scout Master Jack Hulme took the troop out through the woods surrounding the college town and many feeding shelters were built.

Corn and feed of various kinds has been ordered and this feed is to be scattered around the fedding shelters where the birds and small game can get at it during the heavy winter snows.

Modern Lochinvar Kidnaps Bride, 15, From Father-in-law

Girls' Father Is Hot On Trail Of Missing Couple

COATESVILLE, Dec. 22.—Young Lochinvar, who came out of the west some years ago had nothing on Arthur Monger, 35, who came out of the east to recapture his bride of a day and started west with her irate father in hot pursuit.

Two days ago Monger and Anna Luff, 15, eloped from Lower Oxford to Centreville, Md., where they were married. Monger, true to customs of modern eloping couples, then telephones to his father-in-law, Arley Luff, to advise him of the marriage.

Luff, to use Monger's words, was just as irate as the father of the bride whom Lochinvar left standing with the jilted bridegroom at the altar.

Summoning a constable, Luff went to Centreville and protested against the marriage because his daughter is only 15 years old. She had given her age as 18. Luff returned home with his daughter after arguing with Monger and told the bridegroom that he was to make no effort to see his bride.

Thursday Monger went to West Chester to consult his attorney about habeas corpus proceedings to recover possession of his bride. While there he learned his father-in-law was in conference with District Attorney John N. Guss in an effort to annul the marriage.

Monger immediately went to his bride's home, tucked her into his car and they started westward to pick up the threads of their interrupted home. When Luff returned home and found his daughter gone, he, too, started westward in pursuit of the couple, and today no word has been received from him or the newlyweds.

The Powers Demand Reparations

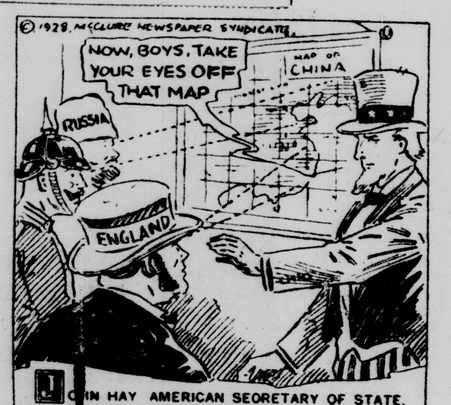
IN DECEMBER, 1900, THE GREAT POWERS PRESENTED THEIR DEMANDS TO CHINA. THESE WERE—INDEMNITY FOR LOSSES THEY HAD SUFFERED IN THE BOXER REBELLION AND MEASURES FOR THE FUTURE PROTECTION OF FOREIGNERS. CHINA AGREED TO PAY 450 MILLION TAELS (330 MILLION DOLLARS).



JOHN HAY AMERICAN SECRETARY OF STATE, PERSUADED THE OTHER NATIONS NOT TO DEMAND CHINESE TERRITORY, AND WON THEIR FAVOR TOWARD AN "OPEN DOOR" POLICY IN TRADE WITH CHINA. HE WAS ALSO SUCCESSFUL IN HAVING MUKDEN AND ANTUNG NAMED AS OPEN PORTS

SECRETARY HAY DID NOT WISH TO SEE CHINA REDUCED TO THE POSITION OF A WEAK, SUBORDINATE NATION, AND BELIEVED THAT THE BEST WAY TO SOLVE CHINA'S PROBLEMS WAS TO GIVE THE CHINESE A CHANCE TO MODERNIZE THEMSELVES.

THE UNITED STATES RECEIVED 24 MILLION DOLLARS AS ITS SHARE OF THE INDEMNITY, WHICH EXCEEDED OUR ACTUAL LOSSES BY 13 MILLION DOLLARS. UNCLE SAM GENEROUSLY GAVE THE EXCESS BACK TO CHINA IN 1907. THIS MONEY WAS USED TO BUILD AND MAINTAIN CHIN WAH COLLEGE, A GREAT CENTER OF LEARNING IN PEKING.

New Castle High School Basketball Team Victorious In Opening Game

CUBA-ALEANDER CAGE THREE APIECE

(Special To The News)

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 22.—New Castle High school basketball team opened their 1928-29 floor season at Roosevelt gymnasium, this city, on Friday night, and hung a 24 to 14 defeat on the Altoona High quintet. The Lawrence county team played a fine brand of basketball and were deserving of the verdict.

The boys from western Pennsylvania were somewhat confused at the start of the game by the spacious floor, and it took them a little to get their bearings. Cuba sank the first basket for New Castle within a minute of the start of the game, and New Castle was never headed afterward.

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh started practically the same team here last night that went down to defeat in the Pitt gym last March before the powerful Duquesne High team in the finals of the W. P. I. A. L. tourney, and the red and black clad artists showed to excellent advantage. New Castle was just a little weak on fouls, caging but six out of 15 tries.

New Castle Leads

At the end of the first quarter the New Castle combination was leading, 5 to 2, and at the end of the first half the visitors had a lead of 11 to 4. At the conclusion of the third quarter the New Castleites had a lead of 16 to 10. The Altoona team played their best brand of basketball in the third quarter, getting six points to five for New Castle. The Bridenbaugh coached team came through with eight more points in the fourth quarter, while Altoona High was held to four points.

The game was featured by the fine passing and impregnable defense of the Lawrence countians. Only in the matter of caging baskets did New Castle show any off-stride work.

Cuba-Alexander Star

The work of Cuba and Alexander for New Castle featured, both boys caging three baskets apiece. Johnson had one basket for New Castle. Ostrosky and Sillman put up a fine exhibition of defensive play, holding the Altoona team down tight in the matter of caging baskets.

The New Castle team presented a natty appearance in their new uniforms of black satin with large red lettering. Coach Bridenbaugh brought 10 men to Altoona.

The game was efficiently and impartially handled by Logue, referee, and Reynolds, umpire. The strict manner in which the rules are enforced in central Pennsylvania proved somewhat of a handicap to the red and black team.

The summary:

| New Castle 24 | | Altoona 14 |
|---|---|---|
| Johnson | F | Bricker |
| Cuba | F | MacLaughlin |
| Alexander | C | Weld |
| Ostrosky | G | Richardson |
| Sillman | G | Thompson |

Subs: New Castle—Harrison for Johnson, Fernati for Sillman, Cubs for Alexander, McAuley for Cuba. Altoona—Wileman for Bricker, Smith for Weld, Whitaker for Thompson. Field goals: Cuba 3, Alexander 3, Johnson, Ostrosky, Weldman 2, MacLaughlin 2. Fouls: New Castle: 6 out of 16; Altoona, 6 out of 18. Referee: Logue. Umpire: Reynolds.

Jack To Arrive This Afternoon

Firpo Will Also Come Here To Top Off His Training

OPINION ON BOUT EVENLY DIVIDED

Is Henry Firpo, elongated welterweight of Louisville to taste of defeat when he setps forth to fight Jack Dillon of Nashville, Tenn., in a 10-round bout at the Bowl Christmas afternoon?

"Yes" say some and "no" say others and as a result of the feud that has developed among the fighters the fans here are fairly well 'het up' and a regular "summer" crowd is probable when the bell rings at three o'clock.

Firpo and Dillon milled over a 12-round course at Louisville, last August. The Dillon person slammed Firpo good and plenty in the closing rounds and won the decision according to the Louisville Herald-Post.

Been Going Good.

Since leaving Louisville Firpo has been trotting wide and handsome. He has been beating 'em to a pulp and only a few nights ago returned to his home town where he lambasted Young Maleno in a fast 12-round bout.

At the ringside was Jack Dillon. He challenged Firpo and when Bill Jolly heard of this asked the Nashville battler to accept a date here which he did. Jolly got Jimmie Dunn on the telephone and Jimmie signed for Firpo.

Due to the fact that Dillon beat Firpo and also that they are bitter rivals the fans here have taken to the bout and there is considerable heat in the air. Dillon, it appears will have a strong following even though it is his first trip here.

He is scheduled to arrive here today. He will go to the Bowl and train. Firpo will arrive here Sunday and will train at a different hour. It looks as though a good bout awaits fandom after they have stowed a couple of pounds of turk'.

Goodman Can Punch.

Two boys who are well known here will go on in the six round semi-final. They are Joey Goodman and U. S. Carpentier. Goodman didn't go so well with Jimmy Reed but that was account of Reed's style. No one could go good with him. He won't let them.

U. S. Carpentier is not so tall on punch but he is a sort of crafty fellow. However he will know he has been in a fight when Goodman and he finish. Goodman is as fast and hits harder than Carpentier.

Young Dinger of DuBois, who has been undergoing instruction here for six months or more in the Dime gymnasium will step out against Bill Beatty of Nashville, who boxed a fast exhibition with Young Firpo.

Dinger hasn't had a lot of fights but he is built like a concrete block. Beatty is a tall, welterweight and it looks to us as though Dinger will work on the body and Beatty will attack to the head.

Polis Returning.

The DuBois kid likes to fight. No one has ever accused Beatty of being backward in this respect and the six round fracas should be brimful of punching unless one of them is knocked over for a row of numerals.

Nick Polis, a light heavyweight of Aliquippa, who attained local fame by beating Elmo The Mighty and Warren Farrow will take on Young Sable of Pittsburgh. The light-heavies will go four rounds.

The fighting carpenter, Terry McManus, will return here to meet Jimmy Engle of Youngstown, in a four round bout. Terry has been in Pittsburgh but hopes to defeat Engle and grab himself a couple of more bouts in this section.

Christians And Third U. P. Team Win Church Games

Highland U. P. Church Team Forfeits To Mahoning M. E. Last Night At "Y"

The Central Christians defeated the First Baptists 22 to 13, and the Third U. P. team defeated the Wesley M. E. team 41 to 10 in Church League games played last night at the Y. M. C. A. floor.

The Highlan U. P. team forfeited to the Mahoning M. E. by not appearing for their scheduled game.

In the first game of the evening the Baptists put up a good game against the smooth working Central Christian team, but were forced to give up the decision. At the end of first half the Centrals had a lead of 5 to 0. The work of E. Bauman, Paulini and Cowmeadow was the best for the Christians, while Conway and Wallace were the best for the Baptists.

The Third U. P. team won a lopsided game from the Wesley M. E. team in the second game of the program. The final score was 41 to 10. At the end of the first half the Third U. P. team had a lead of 25 to 0. Lutz, Suber and McClymonds led the Third U. P. team in scoring. For the losers the work of Gibson was a feature.

Westminster Has Won 27 Out Of 35 Games In Last Two Floor Seasons

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 22.—Coach John Lawther, mentor of the Westminster College basketball team, has had unusual success with his United Presbyterian court teams during the last two years. As the basketball season approaches again, followers of the U. P. team again look to Lawther to produce a team which will be among the best in the district.

In two seasons Lawther's men have won 27 games and lost but eight. The 1927 season saw 10 victories and five defeats, when the United Presbyterian passers placed second in the tri-state conference race. Last year's team, one of the greatest in the section, won 17 contests and dropped three, to win the tri-state conference championship handily. Whether or not the 1929 edition can duplicate last year's performance is a matter of conjecture. While most blue and white enthusiasts look for a good season, there are many who think that the U. P. team can do no better than place second this year.

In winning 27 games out of 35 played during the last two seasons, Lawther's men have scored 1,185 points to 743 for opponents. Thiel and Bethany have been defeated four times, Allegheny and St. Francis three times, Geneva, Duquesne and Waynesburg twice and Adrian and Grove City once during the last two years.

Lawther assumed complete charge of basketball at Westminster in the winter of 1926. He was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1919. Lawther taught and coached at Hubbard, O., high school during 1919-20, and was supervising principal of the New Wilmington schools from 1922 to 1926. From 1924 to 1926 he was part-time instructor in education at Westminster, and since 1926 he has been full-time instructor in psychology and education at the college. He is assistant football coach, head coach of basketball and faculty director of athletics.

Junior Teams To Stage Practice

Henry MacNicholas, assistant physical director of the Y. M. C. A. announced today that all junior basketball teams of the Y. M. C. A. under the ages of 14, 16 and 18, will practice Monday afternoon at the "Y" at 1 o'clock.

The Y. M. C. A. boys are preparing for a meet with the Butler "Y" on next Thursday and the teams are called to practice for this purpose. It is asked that all members of the various teams report Monday.

Royal Five Loses To Smith Quintet

Smiths defeated Royal Five, 29 to 11, in basketball. The first quarter ended five to nothing, but the Smiths came from behind and led, eight to five, at the end of the half. The lineup:

| Smiths | | Royal Five |
|---|---|---|
| Sheldone | F | Shu |
| Barlett | F | E. Sesko |
| Banjo | C | Jermakowvcz |
| DeMuccio | G | Chernyavsky |
| DiThomas | G | S. Sesko |

Subs.: Slosnerick.

Field goals: De Muccio 6, DiThomas 5, Banjo 2, E. Sesko 2, Jermakowvcz. Fouls: Smiths, 3 out of 5; Royal Five, 5 out of 12.

Referee: Fish.

Timekeeper: Catzo.

Three Games At Y. M. C. A. Tonight

Tonight at the Y. M. C. A. the Church League teams will play two games and the City League will stage one basketball game. The first game will start at 7 o'clock.

The first game is between the Wesley M. E. and First M. E. The second game will find the Lincolns battling the Castletons. The third game is between the Highland U. P. and Central Presbyterians.

There's a bright side. Santa Claus can't come down a modern chimney, but neither can the bill collectors sneak in that way later.

Y. M. C. A. Teams Ready For Meet With Butler Y.

Local Teams Hope To Defeat Butlerites Here December 27

First Meet Gives Butler Edge Of But Four Points In Sport Meet

New Castle members of various athletic teams of the Y. M. C. A. are getting in trim for the inter-sport meet with the Butler Y. M. C. A. which will take place at the local Y the afternoon and evening of December 27.

Some time ago, the local Y teams went to Butler and came back nursing a defeat of but four points for the entire meet. With this small difference, the local teams expect to give the Butlerites more than a race for their money here next week.

Every indoor sport will be on the program and every one will participate regardless of the age.

There will be basketball, games for juniors and teams composed of older men, swimming, volley ball, checkers, ping pong, hand ball, and all of the rest.

The meet will consume the greater part of the afternoon and evening, and there will be every sort of event going on at the same time.

The general public is invited to this inter-sport meet and exhibition. About 100 men and boys will participate.

Aerial Attack'

BY FEG MURRAY

Metropolitan Newspaper Service

A good sound passing game is acknowledged by most football coaches to be quite necessary to gridiron success in this day and age—quite as important in fact as the running game—and although there are still those who deplore the turning of the grand old grid sport into basketball, there is nothing prettier to watch than a long completed pass, especially when both passer and receiver have to do some fast and acrobatic work to do their parts successfully. Who will ever forget Cagle's three remarkable passes against Stanford? After being chased all over the field by several husky western forwards, reversing, running back towards his own goal and eluding the grasp of several tacklers he was still able to spot an eligible receiver and shoot the ball right into his arms, turning an almost certain loss into a first down.

The army against Nebraska gained more than 200 yards by the air route. Against Harvard, Yale gained eleven yards. Which played the more progressive (and winning football)? Probably the two best passers in the country this year were Harpster of Carnegie Tech and Maple of Oregon State. Howard Harpster ranks right up with Benny Friedman, Michigan's ace of a few seasons back as an accurate sharpshooter.

I saw the longest pass ever completed in a football game when "Brick" Muller of California, completed his famous 70-yard heave to Brodie Stephens for a touchdown against Ohio State on New Years Day, 1921. Johnny LeGendre of Tulane, completed one of 65 yards that same season. John Levi, Haskell Indian who it is said could throw 60 and 90-yard passes in practice, tossed a 62-yard heave sucessfully in 1923 and Cruickshank of Bucknell and Chapel of Franklin and Marshall made touchdown throws of 60 yards each. Probably the longest pass of 1928 was Shober's 58-yard heave to Captain Paul Schull of Penn in the Chicago game.

A.—"Which is more important, throwing or catching passes?"

B.—"It is more blessed to give than to receive."

"Beautiful Blonde" In State Officer Kidnap Case, Is Now Brunette

Woman Used By Two Desperate Criminals As "Lure" Has Many Names

Arrested In Montour, Iowa, Woman Waives Extradition Rights

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 22. — "The beautiful blonde," accomplice of the two men who kidnapped Motor Patrolman Russel G. Troup in Lancaster county several months ago, was merely a good looking brunette when brought to state police headquarters today. She was arrested Thursday in Montour, Iowa. A state police escort today took her to the Lancaster county jail.

The woman who has used a number of other names told state police she is Mrs. William Cole, wife of one of the men held in Cincinnati on a charge of bank robbery. The other one of the trio, Edward P. Tuohey, also is held in that city on the same charge. Pennsylvania detainers on several charges have been lodged against both men.

Mrs. Cole told state police here that she came of a "good family in New York State" and that she married Cole two years ago. She denied that she had been implicated in any crimes previous to luring two men to a Philadelphia apartment where her husband and Tuohey attacked and bound them and then fled in the automobile belonging to one of them.

The two men and the woman were arrested near Quarryville, Lancaster county, for a minor violation of the motor code. Troup entered the car, not knowing it was stolen, and directed them to drive to a justice of the peace. En route they attacked and bound him and later abandoned the machine when the gas gave out.

The trio then stole another car and were next heard of in Ohio. Cole was the first arrested. Wednesday Tuohey returned to Cancinnati and was arrested and the woman taken into custody in Montour, Iowa, at the home of a sister.

Search For Suspect In Mail Robbery On Board Big Steamer

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Dec. 22.—It was understood here today that United States treasury agents are co-operating with the German, and Australian police in the search for a German, Walter Ringer, of Dobberun, who is suspected of the robbery of $500,000 bonds, checks, money and other valuables from mail bags on the U. S. Liner Leviathan last June.

It is believed that the robbery was planned by others and that Ringer, who worked on the Leviathan as a stoker under the name of "Long" was implicated with the actual perpetrators.

This police theory is based upon the assumption that a stoker on the liner would not have the opportunity to rifle the mail sacks without assistance.

Sailors' boarding houses in Antwerp and other ports are being combed for the suspect.

A Berlin girl, who was formerly Ringer's sweetheart, furnished the police with information which led them to begin an intensive search for Ringer after he had been arrested in Antwerp and released for the lack of official accusations against him.

Merry Christmas In Bootlegging Trade

Whiskey Made In Canada For 8½ Cents Sells In United States For $8.00

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—This year's Christmas will be a merry one for the bootleggers.

One of Manhattan's unknown curbstone statisticians today presented International News Service with the following intelligence:

Whisky costs 8½ cents a bottle to make in Canada compared with an American market price of $8.

Good Canadian whisky is selling in New York at $8 a "fifth".

The balance sheet of Hiram Walker-Gooderham and Worts, Ltd., Canadian distillers, made public today shows an inventory of finished whisky carried at $5,108,349, representing 10,000,0000 imperial gallons or 60,000,000 American "fifths".

If this entire stock were sold in New York it would have a retail value of $480,000,000 and would represent a profit of approximately $435,000,000 to the bootlegger.

Decrees In Six Cases That Have Recently Been Tried In Lawrence County

Opinions were handed down by Judge Chambers this morning in six cases that have been tried before him in county court.

In the case of J. D. Jones against Mrs. Hilda Lundgren, a new trial was refused. This was an Ellwood City case, based on a mechanic's lien on which the plaintiff was awarded a verdict of $2,248.12.

Motion to open judgment was granted in the case of Charles Watkins against Tony Tekla. This was a case in which there was a dispute over a note in which it was claimed by the makers of the note that it had been paid.

In the case of the Ohio Valley Clay company against The Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company, motion to strike off amendment to an affidavit of defense is refused, and motion for judgment for want of a sufficient affidavit of defense is also refused. The claim was based on notes for $4,500 given by the defendant to plaintiff.

In the case of F. L. Forrester against Harry Rosenblum, amended affidavit of defense is allowed and motion for judgment for want of a sufficient affidavit of defense is overruled. The case grew out of a disput over a lumber bill.

In the case of Will Brown against the New Castle Fireworks company for $10,000 damages for injuries sustained in a fireworks celebration at Pittsburgh, motion to strike off statement of claim is granted, and the plaintiff is permitted to file a new affidavit of defense within 15 days.

In the matter of the estate of W. H. Cox, deceased, executors are directed to advertise and sell real estate and file an account. Appraisement of the estate was $13,724. There are debts of $10,181.65 exclusive of the costs of the administration. Executors have been trying to sell the real estate, but have not been able to get it done at a satisfactory price.

N. Y. STOCKS

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—The copper stocks jumped in to the middle of the stage at the start of the short session of the market today, Anaconda leading, another brilliant rally to the year's highest price of 116¾ up 2½ points.

The ability of the bulls to stage such an impressive come-back this week has strengthened the confidence of stock traders in all parts of the country, and another large accumulation of buying orders for the copper, motor, oil and specialty stocks awaited the tap of the opening gong today.

The high-priced specialties were jounced around by the professionals in the first hour. Radio was pushed down nearly 10 points to 371, while American International, one of the sensations of the year, added 5 points to yesterday's 10-point jump and reached a new high at 144. Warner Brothers Pictures continued its steady climb, and added 3½ points at 125½.

Anaconda's brilliant run up the price scale was all the evidence Wall street required that the directors of the company on Monday would vote a fine Christmas present for the stockholders in the form of a special cash dividend or an increase in the regular dividend.

Though all markets in the finincial district are open on Monday, many traders were ready to "lighten up" for a short holiday extending through the Christmas week, and the bulls were not over-anxious to add to their burdens for that period. Consequently when selling orders flowed into the market they found buying demand much less pronounced than in the last day or two and prices were inclined to sag.

The business agencies had an excellent review of trade and industry for the week-end, particularly as related to holiday buying. The big retail stores and chain stores did a rushing business, their treasuries all bulging with money and the outlook for domestic and foreign trade never better.

The railroad stocks sold at a higher price level in the second hour. High grade dividend rails like New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio commanded the best prices of the week, while Erie led the move in the non-dividend rails.

A spurt in the copper stocks at the start brought prices of Anaconda, Chile and other well known shares to the year's highest prices, but profit-taking in the final period wiped out most of the gains in this and other sections of the market.

Warner Brothers Pictures raced up about 5 points to 127 and National Bellas Hess succeeded finally in pushing to above 200, completing a gain of 43 points for the week. Radio and Victor Talking did not improve on yesterday's highest prices and Montgomery Ward declined a few points on profit taking.

Railroad and public utility stocks were firm at the close.

Christmas Spirit Is Manifested In Bowery

Bowery Mission In New York To "Throw" Big Feed For Homeless Wanderers

Nomads Of Christian Humanity Will Be Feted; To Receive Gifts

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Christmas spirit, now manifest the world over, began to make itself felt today down among the haunts of the homeless, in the bowery, red and green holly was strung from the ceiling in the crowded bowery mission and a Christmas tree, aglow with tinsel and lights, was placed in the front window.

Ragged old men, with tired, watery eyes, stooped shoulders and beaten hang-dog expressions peered at the decorations with varying feelings. Some of them scoffed openly. "Trying to make us believe in Santa Claus".

Old Pat Crowe, who once achieved notoriety by kidnapping one of the Cudady children out West and holding him for $25,000 ransom, gave the Christmas tree one swift glance and moved on. A few others perhaps thinking of home ties and days gone by when they played Santa Claus themselves, trekked to nearby speakeasies and tried to drown memories with "red eye".

To "Forget-Selves"

But for the most part the human driftwood idling about in their threadbare overcoats and worn out shoes forgot or overlooked the blows life had dealth them and entered into the occasion with grateful hearts. Some of them helped put up the decorations. And a tear glistened in more than one eye. That intangible thing—Christmas spirit—"got" them.

On Christmas day these homeless men are going to try and do a big thing. They are going to "forget themselves for a day."

They are going to sit down to the swankiest Christmas dinner you could imagine. Music by a four-piece orchestra. The tables decorated with candles and flowers. White cloth on every table. Waiters in full dress. And in an atmosphere as closely approximating one of the swagger uptown hotel dining rooms as is possible in the bowery mission.

They are going to try and "be themselves again" on this day that commemorates the birth of Christ in the stable at Bethlehem. They are going to brush off their tattered clothes, run a rag over their old shoes and draw a razor over their bearded cheeks. They are going to raise their self respect, even though it be only for a day.

After the Christmas party each man is to be presented with a package containing a gift. Something practical. A shirt, a muffler, a tie, a safety razor—some little thing to show he is not forgotten.

"Christmas spirit"—good will toward men—that's the idea back of it all.

cently found Jaworski sane when the latter was confined in a hospital there. In the event that a commission here declares the convicted man insane, Gardner asserted that the finding of the commission in Cleveland would be used in rebuttal.

Mrs. Catherine L. Logan of Detroit Jaworski's sister, paved the way for the reprieve after a visit with her brother in the county jail here. Positive that her brother's mental attitude was not normal she began a battle through Attorney Cohen for the calling of a sanity commission to examine him.

Meanwhile Jaworski declares he is sane.

been torn off, giving evidence of a terrific struggle before she was slain. She lived alone in the home.

After Sheriff Jesse Grissom of White county decided that neither robbery nor attack was the motive, he took Isaac Austin, also a school teacher and former neighbor of Miss Preher, into custody for questioning.

Neighbors say Austin and Miss Preher had quarreled frequently and were known to have had an argument as late as Thursday of this week.

The questioning of Austin was veiled in great secrecy, the officers refusing to divulge his statements.

A Mrs. Bachman, widowed sister of the slain woman, and said to have been estranged from Miss Preher, was also questioned by the authorities.

Elk Boy Scout Troop Have Meeting

Scouts Of Elk Troop Turn Over Club Dues To Charity Christmas Fund

The Elks Boy Scout troop No. 5 on Thursday evening, December 20, held its regular weekly meeting. The meeting was in charge of Scoutmaster Ralph F. Davis and assistants, Fiorelli and Lattavo. The committeemen present were Walter DeArment and Mills.

The opening exercises were in charge of the scoutmaster. The Lord's Prayer was led by Ed Chapman. Scoutmaster Davis received a letter from a Cuban Boy Scout. The letter was written in very broken English so each patrol was given five minutes to make it out. The Mohawk patrol won, the Black Bear patrol was second and the Lions patrol third.

Announcements were made concerning the merit badge exposition to be held in the cathedral in February and the trip to Europe next summer under the leadership of Scout Executive J. Lee Calahan.

Bob Brown, patrol leader of the White Eagle patrol, will take a group of boys out to pass tests in cooking, fire building, pace and other tests that must be passed out of doors.

A new patrol has been started and is called the Opportunity patrol. This patrol is for the benefit of the new members who have not passed their tenderfoot tests. Then the boys who pass the tests will be put in the regular patrols. The 25 points for the best behaved patrol of the troop was award to the Lions patrol led by Harry Brown. The new patrol contest has started and the Lions patrol leads with 205 points, the White Eagle patrol is second with 155 points and the Mohawk patrol 95 points and the Black Bear patrol 80 points.

Scoutmaster Davis announced the system of saving money for camp. The patrols are going to curtain each corner and decorate them as they wish. Many projects were brought in.

Tests were passed by Ed Chapman in oath, sign salute and hand clasp. Andy Maki passed oath, salute and hand clasp. Harry Brown passed first class and Indian sign language.

Announcements were made concerning the first aid meet, and the boys were instructed to keep practicing for the contest.

The meeting was closed by taps being blown by Arthur Lattavo.

No Christmas Pardons Given

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The quality of mercy is not strained—merely obsolete.

So none of the thousands in the penitentiaries will receive a pardon at this season of Christmas spirit and benevolence.

At the Justice Department it was learned today that the system of permitting the wardens of the United States prisons to recommend two or three of the best behaved convicts for pardon has been discarded.

BANK ROBBERY IS FRUSTRATED; MAN OUTWITS ROBBERS

at 8:30 a. m. when one of the bandits walked up to Stille and forced a revolver against the teller's abdomen.

The bandit demanded the money satchel Stille was carrying. Stille refused to hand it over and the bandit fired three times at the teller's feet. When Stille again refused to hand the money over the bandit fired at Stille's head, but Stille ducked in the nick of time.

Bandits Flee.

A woman's screams at this point caused the bandit to lose nerve and he leaped into the car in which his companion sat and escaped.

The car sped down Grass Run road and police set out in pursuit, as soon as they were notified.

Bank officials at first refused to divulge the amount of money contained in the satchel. It was believed that the two bandits were waiting for more accomplices before attempting the robbery, however, since Stille and Coon appeared at the bank earlier than usual, to handle the increased holiday business and take care of payrolls.

Still was given full credit for preventing the robbery, since his bravery under the gunman's fire probably broke the gunman's nerve.

Stille was given full credit for presence of danger was demonstrated by his reply to the demand to "hand over the satchel."

"Get out," said Stille, "or I'll sock you over the head with it."

RIVERSIDE CHURCH IS COMPLETE LOSS

tacular blaze in years and was witnessed by approximately 100,000 persons. Police reserves held back the fascinated spectators.

Believed Cause

The overturning of a heating brazier caused the fire, it is believed. Seventy pieces of fire apparatus responded to four alarms. The weather was so cold that the water running down the tower froze as it struck the pavement, and four firemen were injured when they fell on the ice. It was more than two hours before the blaze was brought under control, as a stiff breeze fanned the flames.

Residents of nearby apartment houses were routed, two sick persons being carried out on stretchers. Two hundred students attending a lecture in Union Theological Seminary were driven to the street.

To Rebuild Church.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor-designate of the new $4,000,000 Riverside church which was gutted by fire with $1,000,000 loss, said today he believed no difficulty would be met in raising money to complete the edifice.

Only the burned out shell remained today when the fire, after raging for 12 hours, burned itself out in the scaffolding 400 feet above the ground.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was one of the heaviest contributors to the new church fund. It was planned as a church for people of all faiths and has been the dream of Dr. Fosdick's life.

During the evening Dr. H. H. Rosenthal showed some motion pictures he had taken and many of the men present were in the scenes shown. The refreshments committee was in charge of J. N. Speed, with Phil G. Greer in charge of the entertainment.

Probability is that Mayor Gillespie Monday will have council request the civil service board to furnish a list of eligibles for the police department, inasmuch as the name of Richard Cooper was removed from the list yesterday.

He had been appointed, but secured another position.

The mayor will probably arrange for another policeman to take the berth.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

It is hardly news to remind you that there remains but two days before Christmas, but had you stopped to think that only about nine days remain in Leap Year?

Only nine more days for assertive young ladies to step out and get themselves a husband and still remain inside the hunting limits of Leap Year, which is presumed to give them more liberties than they have, although the Cynic rises to ask how could it.

And by the same sign there are but nine more days until fellows can get married without being accused of having been shanghaied by Leap Year.

There has always been a suspicion, however, that every year is Leap Year, that the day, date or year makes small difference, once a lady makes up her mind to hang the hardware on an eligible young man, he might just as well begin looking at period furniture.

Each night the homes look prettier in the various sections of the city. Each night adds to the Christmas decorations and small trees are making their appearance on porches, on porch roofs and in windows.

The Carnegie Steel tree is up and lighted, and somehow Christmas seems a trifle nearer when you see it. A blinker is on top of it, and as you approach it that blinker seems to be winking a friendly greeting to you.

Up over the North Hill and the east side, down over the south side and the seventh ward, over on the west side, the decorations are throwing out their red and green weather signals, indicating heavy showers of gifts on the Tuesday morning, coupled with squalls as the youngsters break those mechanical toys that never seem to last over the day.

Got an interesting card from L. A. Tucker of New Bedford a day or so ago. Now Mr. Tucker is a veteran of that interesting village and getting a card from him is rather a distinction. In addition to the courtesy of the card he invites me to roam out to New Bedford some afternoon, which invitation is accepted as soon as I can get around to it.

The gang over at the legion threw a Christmas party last night and as you might expect, it was considerable of a party. Nick Speed and his K. P.'s outdid themselves in the matter of making sandwiches and what that crowd of ex-service men did to what was once a proud ham was too bad.

Now as to those Christmas gifts that are wanted.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh. A schedule that will be played all "non-protest" games.

Ralph Kegarise. An automobile that will make some speed. One that will do better than 31 hours from Florida.

W. J. Offutt. A municipal golf course where the greens will be self keepers and no balls can be lost.

Davy Bollard, one of the ex-gobs. Oh, a yacht or something like that.

These orders are all being filed by Santa Claus in the Committee of the Whole. At the proper time they will be released.
